CINDY HOLSCHER for GOVERNOR

Dave,

You did this.

You knocked on the doors. You made the calls. You talked to your friends and family, and showed up to be part of our crowd in your town. And you donated what you could, when you could — but this was never a campaign built on money. It was built on people. On you.

You gave it your all — and thanks to you and people like you, KC and I defeated a well-financed opponent who fought a hard campaign. This win belongs to every Kansan. We ran for the people, and that's who we'll govern for.

Now, we get to work. And here are just some of the things we're going to do, starting January 11th when I take the oath of office:

We're going to lighten the load for Kansas families and lower costs for Kansans.

- We're going to make sure every kid gets a public school education that gives them the best start.
- We're going to push to expand Medicaid so our neighbors get the care they need and our rural hospitals stay open.
- We’re going to pause new data centers in Kansas until there are guardrails in place to protect our communities
- We're going to put your tax dollars to work for ordinary families — not whoever has the best lobbyists.

There's so much more we'll do. We'll do it all together. And I'll join forces with anyone — anyone — who is ready to put ordinary Kansans first. That includes Senate President Masterson and the Republicans in the Kansas Legislature — because I learned long ago that to get things done in government, everyone needs to roll up their sleeves and work as a team.

If a farm girl like me — the granddaughter of tenant farmers, the daughter of a dad who worked in construction and a mom who worked at my elementary school — can grow up to be governor, every Kansas kid should be able to achieve great things. And together, we're going to make sure they can.

Thank you for believing, for fighting, for showing up to vote — and for making history with me.

Cindy Holscher

Governor-Elect of Kansas
